thewellspoint

August arrived hot and left us with wet weather in the form of hurricane Irene. In between I taught two wonderful workshops in New York City and Maine. Images made during the last month are interspersed throughout this newsletter.

NEWS

- As a follow up to being featured in the September Photo District News as one of The Best Workshop Instructors, PDN also published another piece on my teaching process titled: Seeing Photographically
- The first of what I hope will be many articles, was recently published in Photo Technique magazine. I wrote about Who Owns What? Copyright & Model Releases

- In between all this writing, teaching and traveling I have been photographing a great deal. I photographed inside another foreclosed house in Providence. I am also continuing to experiment with time lapse animations. Look for the results of that to show up in future podcasts.

NEW BLOGS

In August, I also posted blog entries on The Wells Point titled:

- I have seen the future and ...
- The best college for photographers
- The white balance from he...
- To put differences aside for the common good

I also wrote another blog for the B&H Insights blog, titled A Pro Photographer Who Uses a MacBook Air?

NEW PODCAST

I also posted a new podcast in August, titled Highway, time where I share my reaction to afternoon traffic in Providence, Rhode Island.

STUDENT NEWS

Jon Plasse, a long time student of mine, has authored a newly published book of photographs exploring his memories of the old Yankee Stadium. SUNY (the State University of New York) Press is the publisher of the book, the Stadium

WORKSHOPS NEWS

I am about to start my "busy" season with trips to New York City and Philadelphia as well as stops in California and Asia. You can always find my upcoming classes on the workshops page of my site.

I hope you enjoyed my latest monthly newsletter. I welcome your feedback. If you know people who would be interested in getting these, please encourage them to sign up!

Thanks,
