August was a mixed month for us. It started with a few days on my own in Portugal. Then I met up with Annu and we had a great holiday in Porto and in the Douro Valley of Portugal. More by luck than any brilliant planning, our trip coincided with Europe opening up for visitors and before the recent Covid wave. Interspersed throughout this newsletter are images from that trip to a wonderful, welcoming country.

The second half of the month we were home, enjoying the magic that is the end of the summer in New England, as Annu prepared for the start of her academic year. In late August many of the groups for whom I teach, do presentations for and share my work with have started to plan out the coming year's calendar. So if you want a private consult, an editing session, a review of your work or if you have a community group or a camera club that wants a presenter in the year ahead, please contact me.

In August, I learned that my film, New Lives, will be screened on Saturday, October 16th at 4pm as part of the 13th Annual South East New England Film Festival, which is being held from October 13-16, 2021, in Cranston, Rhode Island. That same weekend, my older film, Sahro Hassan: Fashioning a Dialogue, will be screened as part of the 2021 Immigration Film Festival of the Washington (D.C.) Ethical Society.
